BUILDING MAY BE STOPPED.

Orient People May Be Violating Fire Ordinance.

The proprietors of the Orient saloon have started to erect a long coal bin at the rear of their establishment which work may be stopped if the investigation which is now in progress indicates that the fire ordinance is being violated. Yesterday afternoon Alderman Hunt and Marshal Mulhee viewed the work being done and decided to consult City Attorney Sutter. Upon his view of the matter depends whether action will be taken against the proprietors of the resort named above.

It is being built entirely of wood, which fact makes it a direct violation of the ordinance in the opinion of Alderman Hunt.

The Orient proprietors claim that they are acting within the letter of the law in that they made the contract for the improvement before the ordinance was passed making it unlawful to erect wooden structures within the five blocks as named by the council.

WANDERER RETURNS.

Popular Alderman, After Six Weeks Vacation, Returns Home.

About six weeks ago there disappeared from Bisbee the familiar and well known form and face of one of Bisbee's most popular officials. This gentleman was Chas. C. Warner, the watchdog of the council of this great and growing city, and the rotund alderman from the Second ward.

But little was heard of the genial city father until last Sunday the Review announced from a Michigan paper that Mr. Warner was basking under the shadows of the firs of the far northern portions of Michigan and Minnesota. The surprise that came to a representative of the Review on Tuesday last as he dropped into the capital city of Phoenix and there beheld the councilman member discoursing to a surrounding host of attentive listeners fabulous tales of all that he had seen during his absence, may well be imagined. There was not much use in breaking upon the broad lecture Mr. Warner was delivering, so the scribe bided his time until, catching the alderman on the train returning to Bisbee from Phoenix, the newspaper man started the figurative pumps to work and elicited from Mr. Warner a story most interesting.

Thirty-four years ago Mr. Warner left his home and friends in the East and hid himself to the wilds of Colorado, Utah and Nevada, where he proceeded to make himself a miner by occupation and profession. When the Tombstone excitement broke out and attracted to the famous city all of the bad men of the world, and many of the best men of the early days, Mr. Warner being classed with the latter, he was soon numbered among the citizenship of the town founded by Ed Schieffelin, and entered the employ of the Contention Mining company, where he remained for fifteen years. Leaving that employ Mr. Warner then came to the city of Bisbee and entered the service of the Copper Queen Mining company, where he has been one of the most faithful of employees ever since, filling his responsible position with fidelity to the company's interests and a credit to himself.

Eleven years ago his mother visited her son and remained here for a year, and then return to Minneapolis, the family home, now occupied by Mrs.

Warner, a brother and sister of the alderman. Not in thirty-four years had Mr. Warner been east of the Missouri River, so he decided to visit the old home and his aged mother, now in the eighties. Fearing that he would be run over by the street cars or otherwise injured, the representative of the Second ward prudently wired a friend from Kansas City to meet him on arrival of the train at Chicago. Mr. Warner having left there just a year previous to the great Chicago fire. By doing this he was enabled to escape the gold brick, three shell, bogus minister, and other smooth gentlemen who await just such hoppers as set out for the East, and arrived in Minneapolis safely, where he found his old mother well and hearty.

Spending a short time with the old lady, now eighty years of age, and who made the hearty alderman tired with her walking him to church, his natural inclinations led him off into them ining country of Duluth, and of the copper districts of Michigan. Mr. Warner found many things of interest there in mining; for instance, speaking of finding copper near the surface, what would the anxious people of Bisbee think who expect to find bodies of ore at the 200, 300, 500, 800 and 1,000 feet levels, when two shafts visited are down, one of them 6,100 feet, and another 8,100 feet, or over a mile and a half. The Calumet and Hecla, the largest of Michigan mines, treats ores, the average highest values of which are two and eight-tenths per cent copper. The lowest values treated are those of the Atlanta mine, whose product averages but six-tenths of 1 per cent, while one mine pays a dividend on treating ore whose copper value does not exceed eight-tenths of one per cent. The capacities of the works in Michigan at the mines are on a prodigious scale. For instance, the pumps at Tombstone are considered of immense capacity. They lift 1,800,000 gallons per day, and are said to have a capacity of 2,500,000 gallons in twenty-four hours. What is thought of pumps at Calumet which hold 60,000 gallons per minute, or 3,600,000 gallons per hour or 86,400,000 gallons in 24 hours? That makes one stop and think.

Twenty-three thousand tons of ore are treated every twenty-four hours at the Calumet district. They have a stamp also that puts a period in as you go along. This stamp crushes out FIVE HUNDRED TONS a day, something that is wonderful when you stop to think of it. They also have a wire mill there, and when the pig of copper comes from the mill, quicker than it takes to tell it, it is run through the rolls and drawn into trolley wire and fine copper strands for making cables. Nearly all of the work is done by automatic machinery, the absence of men about the plant being most noticeable. Steamers come to the docks loaded with three thousand tons of coal and over, and the entire cargo is discharged in eight hours, and the steamer is ready with a return cargo of copper production, all within twenty-four hours.

Mr. Warner states that the eyes of Michigan are upon Bisbee, and great expectations are anticipated in the copper production of the Warren Mining district. Mr. Warner returns much recuperated from his extensive trip and ready to take up the reins where he left them six weeks ago, greatly benefited in health, and the picture of having enjoyed himself in the western East. He also says that he is glad to get back to old Bisbee, which he will not leave again until he goes back to visit his mother on her one hundredth birthday.

FOSTER SUDDENLY ILL.

U. S. Deputy Marshal Is Severely Sick on the Train.

Coming from Phoenix to Douglas yesterday U. S. Deputy Marshal John Foster was taken suddenly and severely ill. The complaint was, supposed to be from a severe attack of dyspepsia or indigestion of the stomach. Seized with the cramps, the poor fellow was doubled up like a jack knife in the seats. He was aided by the passengers to the extent of their ability, and at Fairbank a telegram was sent to Dr. Brannon at Naco to meet the train, which he did and administered to the patient, so that he was enabled to proceed to proceed to Douglas, where he had some important business to attend to on behalf of the marshal's office. It is not thought to be anything more serious than mentioned above.

DREW ON BISBEE BANK.

F. H. Mason Under Arrest in Montana for Fraudulent Work.

Word reached this city yesterday that F. H. Mason had been arrested in Deer Lodge, Montana, for having obtained money under the false pretense that a draft on the First National Bank of Bisbee, Arizona, would reimburse those to whose credit the drafts were made out. The information came in the shape of a request to the postmaster here that he make deposition to the effect that there is no such institution in existence.

Proper measures were taken to comply with the request of the Deer Lodge authorities and the deposition properly made out and duly witnessed was sent north yesterday. It is not known what amount Mason obtained by his fraudulent representations.
